DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-10, drawn to an electrochemical cell having specific electrode constituents, classified in class 429, subclass 217.
 - II. Claims 11-18, drawn to an electrode comprising specific constituents, classified in class 252, subclass 182.1.
 - III. Claims 19-30, drawn to a method for providing an electrode, classified in class 29, subclass 623.1.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions I and II are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because invention I directed to an electrochemical cell per se can use either a positive electrode or a negative electrode made from another material other than first and second binders, for example, a positive/negative electrode consisting of a single binder itself; or a positive/negative electrode consisting a polymeric material other than a halogenated polymer or a positive/negative electrode consisting of an active material without organic components such as active materials only containing metallic compounds or inorganic binders. The subcombination has separate utility such as providing an active material showing electrochemical activity.

Art Unit: 1745

3. Inventions I and III are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects, for example, invention I is directed to an electrochemical cell which generates electrochemical energy while invention II is directed to a method for providing an electrode per se.

4. Inventions III and II are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case, the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process, as admitted by the applicant, different process including steps where: a) the binder mixture is pressed to the current collector before being heat cured; b) being heat cured at different temperatures before being pressed to the current collector; or c) being heat cured before being pressed to the current collector, or being pressed before being cured.

5. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

6. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for one group is not required for other groups, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Art Unit: 1745

7. A telephone call was made to Michael F. Scalisse on 05/07/03 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

8. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
